Sgt. Elmo Flintom Maries Miss Elsie Gomez In Trinidad

Announcement has been received in Greensboro of the marriage of Miss Jean Elsie Gomez, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gomez of Port of Spain, Trinidad, B.W.I., to 1st Sgt. Elmo Franklin Flintom, son of Mrs. Jessie Hopper, 2504 Maple street, and the late George R. Flintom, at the St. Ann's Church of Scotland, (Methodist) Port of Spain, on Saturday, September 23. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. E. Adamson.

The bride, given away by her father, Mr. Joseph Gomez, wore a gown of white Miami sheer with a long veil held in place by a headress of silver radiance roses and Queen Anne's lace. The flowers used also in her bouquet. She was attended by Miss Florene Sheppard and Miss Eileen Gaddaway, who wore light yellow georgette gowns and carried bouquets of blue forget-me-nots, some of which adorned their hair.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Darrell Gomez, brother of the bride. Miss Jessie Mendes sang, "I Love You Truly".

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at Victoria Square. Following this the couple left for their honeymoon trip which was spent at Santa Marta Estate, Maracaibo.

Mrs. Flintom attended the private school of Miss Dos Santos and the Bishop high school for girls where she received her Cambridge School certificate.

1st Sgt. Flintom, a graduate of Rankin high school was employed in the main office of Proximity Manufacturing company before entering the service in September, 1940. He has been stationed in Trinidad, since May 1941.

Here's One They'll Have To Believe

Harley Boone, 1306 Spruce street, can really tell a fish tale that you will have to believe, because Calvin Jordan and Robert Deaton were eye witnesses to the event.

Imagine casting a four inch minnow into Reedy Fork creek and fishing out an eight pound bass that measured 25 1/4 inches in length and 16 1/4 inches in girth! Well, that's just what Harley Boone did late in the afternoon of October 11. The lucky spot was near Horseshoe bridge on Frey Fork.

The big boy proved rather tough for the angler at first, but Boone withstood the battle longer than his friend, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Allen.

Lewis Isley S.2c of Camp Peary, Spent the week end here visiting his sister, Miss Hilda Isley.

W. O. Community Club Gives Halloween Party

At the monthly meeting of the White Oak Community club, Monday evening, the members enjoyed a Halloween party. They were met at the door by a ghost with an "icy hand" that lead them into the club room which was very festively decorated with autumn leaves, fall flowers, pumpkins, black cats, witches, and lighted with candles. Shriek shrieks of horror were heard throughout the evening, as a story was told of a man who had lived and died, but of whom parts of his body remained. These the guests were made to touch. In a grand march of costumes, Rev. G. W. Clay won first prize; Mrs. H. A. Morris won second prize; and Miss Pearl Wyche won third prize. Bobbing for apples, fortune telling and a quiz program were also enjoyed. The hostesses, Mrs. Tommy Moss, Mrs. Billy Parsons, Mrs. Ogburn Bennett and Miss Mary Gray Hammer served decorated cakes and coffee.

Members present were: Mrs. Frank Graves, Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. Henry Morris, Mrs. J. O. Wheeler, Mrs. L. C. Harris, Mrs. John Cates, Mrs. Vernon Watson, Mrs. Ogburn Bennett, Mrs. Tommy Moss, Mrs. Billy Parsons, Mrs. Walter Brown, Mrs. Lillian Allen, Mrs. Jessie Younce, Mrs. G. W. Clay, Miss Louise Clay, Miss Irene Stone, Miss Pearl Wyche, Miss Lillian Tilley, Mrs. Taylor Turner, Rev. G. W. Clay and Linda Watson were visitors.

S.2c Jack Hughes Jr. Home On Furlough

Jack D. Hughes Jr., S.2c United States Navy, is at home this week on furlough. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hughes, of 1815 Church street, and husband of Daisy Elkins Hughes, of Proximity. He returns to duty tomorrow.

Entering the Navy last December, Seaman Hughes received his basic training at the Great Lakes Naval base in Illinois. He is a graduate of Rankin high school and a former employee in the office of Revolution mill.

According to Miss Carrie Swearingen, Jack was the life of the office and very efficient in his work.

The junior football teams fared well in their first scudel games of eleven men football this season. The Proximity Reds defeated the Latham Park Midges 7 to 0 at Latham park, Tuesday afternoon. At the same time the White Oak Indians played the Central team to a scoreless tie. For the Proximity eleven Austin, Kincaid and Newell were the outstanding players. Al Smith and R. L. Jones led the defense that kept Central from scoring in the first half from the Indian's seven yard line. Central had four downs to make the goal, but the White Oak boys held firm.

Mrs. Taylor Turner has as her guests this week her brother-in-law, 1st Lt. J. Allen Turner, who has just returned from overseas duty with the Air Forces. This week end they will visit Taylor Turner, 2c petty officer, stationed for the present in Boston, Mass.

The two pressure canners are available and should be used for canning greens, as they are a non-acid vegetable and hard to keep. Mrs. Steele will assist you if you wish.

Those who have canned foods since the last report in this paper are:

Mrs. Carl Wytrick, 17 qts string beans.

Mrs. Elbert Powers, 6 1/2 qts field peas.

Mrs. T. H. Teague, 7 1/2 qts field peas, 12 qts turnip greens, 5 qts. pear mincemeat, 3 qts. pear relish.

Mrs. Teague, 21 qts. field peas.

Mrs. Ellis Gordon, 13 qts. soup mixture, 7 qts. field peas.

Mrs. Ward Phillips, 7 qts. October beans.

Mrs. Colon Craven, 14 qts. turnip greens.

Mrs. Carson Ritter, 6 qts. turnip greens.

All for better fed families!

Proximity Club To Have Brunswick Stew

Members of the Proximity Community club are looking forward to the Brunswick stew on Tuesday, October 24, at 6 o'clock, in the club room of the welfare department. This is an annual affair and this year takes on special importance for the club is entertaining the Red Cross surgical dressing group.

Members of the club feel that this group of workers did a wonderful job with the surgical dressings and are anxious to show their appreciation as they really were doing a job for the entire community," stated the director.

WHITE OAK REVOLUTION

Greensboro, North Carolina, Friday, October 20, 1944

If They Are Sincere

With the probable exception of Norman Thomas, practically all candidates and supporters of candidates in the national election are most emphatically professing their great love for free enterprise and the preservation of property rights in the United States. That appears to be one of the main themes in the political campaign and practically everybody seems to be in accord. What is behind this great outburst of oratory and argument for preservation of our traditional freedom of enterprise in this country? Can it be that the politicians are at last awakening to the fact that the average American citizen is becoming alarmed over recent trends toward State Socialism? Certainly, during the last ten years we haven't heard many politicians profess any such love for property rights or for profit motives which are indispensable parts of free enterprise systems.

Those of us who believe in individual freedom and property rights should probably feel somewhat encouraged over this recent professed love for their preservation, but we cannot help but remember other statements which have been made by politicians prior to elections; and, therefore, although we are encouraged over at least the lip service being paid in the cause of free enterprise, we still are not convinced that this professed love will not turn out to be mere political strategy.

It is somewhat surprising that in spite of the world conflict and the most involved international situation ever known to man, so much attention is being given to the issue of free enterprise in this political campaign. Although this is surprising, it is promising to those who have anxiously watched the definite trends towards State Socialism. Even many of those who have in the past loudly championed a system of planned economy which could be construed by their statements as being a type of State Socialism are now also either soft-pedaling their past theories or trying to leave the impression that they meant something else.

If our politicians are sincere in their present professions of love for free enterprise, preservation of property rights and individual freedom and will conscientiously adhere to their campaign statements and their party platforms, the situation for the future does not look as black as it did a few years ago.

Absence Costs $22,761

What could you do with 22,761 dollars? What would that money mean to Greensboro? It would buy three hundred and three, one hundred dollar War Bonds. It would pay for around ten per cent of our Community and War Chest fund. It would buy four modern five or six room houses on nice lots. It would support your entire family for from five to eleven years on a high standard of American living. Yes sir! Even at today's prices, 22,761 dollars will buy a great deal.

Dr. Franklin McNutt Speaks At Meeting Of Rankin P.T.A.

The first meeting of the school year of the Rankin parent-teacher association was held in the school auditorium October 12 with a large number in attendance. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. L. C. Amos, who extended a welcome to all and was in the chair during the business discussion.

Miss Frances Turner, Bible teacher, in the local schools, presented the devotional period, after which the high school glee club, directed by Mrs. G. Waters, sang a group of selections.

Mrs. Boyd Frazier, program chairman, presented to the group Dr. Franklin H. McNutt, head of the education department of Woman's college, as guest speaker for the evening. He used as his topic "How Can Education Be Made More Effective," using humorous illustrations throughout his address.

The state president's message was read by Mrs. Kermitt Payne. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Jim Walters, followed by the treasurer's report by Mrs. B. H. Scott.

The following chairman of the various committees reported and gave their plans for the year: Program and publicity, Mrs. Boyd Frazier; finance and budget, H. G. Waters; summer round up, Miss Kate McNeely; founder's day, Mrs. H. G. Waters; child study, Mrs. John E. Walters; room representative, Mrs. H. H. Craven; goals, Mrs. C. H. Nance; publications, Mrs. Kermitt Payne; hospitality, Mrs. George Wyrick; historian, Mrs. Harry Smith; student aid, Mrs. A. W. Long; W. F. Burton; senior scouts, Miss Linda Rankin; intermediate scouts, Mrs. John E. Walters.

Mrs. R. A. Hawkins, president of the Guilford county Congress of Parents and Teachers, was present and made a brief talk in connection with her work.

donherold says:

The American system of enterprise is the best way I know to get a lot of practical men to help make prosperity in all sections of the United States.

In a little town in Indiana, a man starts and runs a rocking chair factory and employs 100 people. THAT is the right pattern for prosperity.

He has studied rocking chairs all his life. Maybe he has failed at it a few times, lost a lot of money, learned the hard way. But he has become an expert in the rocking chair business, a specialist.

It's better for thousands of men like that to be left pretty much alone to make chairs and make a reasonable profit and pay fair wages than it is for a lot of professors and amateurs in Washington to try to make everybody artificially prosperous from THERE by taxing everybody and dividing the taxes. And much cheaper.

BABY CLINICS

Graveside service for Brenda Joyce Ross, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Ross, 1908 Shober street, was held Wednesday afternoon at Proximity cemetery. She died Tuesday at St. Leo's hospital.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by one brother, Richard Ross; one sister, Juanita Ross; her paternal grandfather, W. A. Ross, and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lynch.

Keep check on your baby's health—come to the Clinic regularly.

Dr. M. Y. Keith was in attendance at the White Oak Baby Clinic Wednesday. Six mothers consulted him about their children.

Linda Jean McNeil and Robert Miller were new members.

Others present were Paul Childress, Jr., Jimmie Reece, Thomas Long, Shaw Hill, Joe Hill, Iris Hill, Ruth and Harvey Guffey, Ann and Harold Lee Smith, Russell Yates, Gary Simmons, Philip Simmons, Richard Pridemore, Stephen Cassell, Dennis and Lewis Robinson, Charles and Robert Rhee, Johnny Marshall and Martha Ann Neil.

Two visitors were Mrs. G. B. Ward of Guilford college, and grandson, Roddy Morrow.

Brenda Leah May, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Howard May was a new member at the Proximity Baby Clinic on Wednesday afternoon.

Other members present were: Sylvia Karen Williams, Larry Wade Jenkins, Robert Leon Maness, Harry Lee Breazeal, Harry Shaw McDonald, Martha Jane McDonald, Eddie Husson, Gary Eugene Denison, Robdal Lee Grundman, Sandra Mays, Brenda Ann Whitley, Brenda Delores Peacock, Gary Lloyd Kennedy, Roberts Maness, Elmer Summers Jr., Billie Summers, Mildred Ruth Johnson, Doris Dawn Kenyon, David Edward Blum, Jackie Blum, Mary Katherine Sloan, Jerry Milton Berkley, Diffe Winecoff, Robert Connor, Winfield Winecoff and Linda Avant.

Dr. M. Y. Keith will be at the Proximity Clinic next Wednesday and anyone who wishes to consult him must be present at 1:15 p.m.

This Couldn't Possibly Happen, But It Did!

When Sgt. Wray Matteson, a member of an army medical detachment who has been on ocean convoy duty on the Pacific for almost two years, came home on furlough recently he told his father, B. R. Matteson, publisher of the Noble County American, an almost unbelievable long-arm-of-coincidence story.

Last March he was at Milne Bay, New Guinea, doing a bit of loafing on the beach. On the incoming tide he noticed a piece of paper and when the water deposited it at his feet, he saw it was a newspaper. He picked it up—and found himself reading the December 16, 1943 issue of his dad's newspaper, the Noble County American! It was all the more welcome because he hadn't been able to receive any mail from home for several months.

Although the American is mailed free to nearly 1,000 men and women from Noble county in the armed forces all over the world, the chances (one in 2,000,000) of a copy being "delivered" to the son of its publisher when it was and where it was is something which Publisher Matteson and Sergeant Matteson are leaving to the mathematicians (or astrologers) to figure out.—(Publishers' Auxiliary).

a call to the navigator of another ship for some local data. The man, with whom he had previously been on good terms, scowled when he came in, paced back and forth, and spoke in angry monosyllables. McCracken was about to give up and leave, when a sailor rushed in. "Air mail letter for you, sir," he said. The navigator grabbed it, studied the hand-writing a moment, then his face relaxed. Suddenly he became gracious, charming and talkative. "Sit down while I read this letter from my wife," he said. "When I don't get letters from her, I'm irritable. However," he added earnestly, "I never show my feelings."

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chronic condition. Chronic bronchitis is more than "Croupiness" which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Croupiness should be treated with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Croupex. You will understand why you must like the way it quickly relieves the cough, permitting rest and sleep, and you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Bob Sends Letter Home

by Carl Cooper

Those present at the Revolution Baby Clinic, Wednesday afternoon were: Douglas Branson, Linda Fulk, David Barbour, Michael Strickland, Roye Brown, Joy Lane Freeman and three new members, Johnnie Gaulden, Lorine McCowley and Wanda Pearson.

He's 21 now, and a member of an Army band down in Florida. When I met his father he told me Bob's changed a lot and grown a lot in two years. "Why, he's thinking about opening his own business after the war," his father said, reaching into his pocket for Bob's latest letter.

"I plan to open a business back home," the boy wrote. "It would be a music store, but with a lot of other things—music instruments, supplies, books. Then I remember, Dad, you telling me that a good magazine store would make some money—so add that along with the other items."

"All I want to know is approximately how much it would take to start the business. Please, Dad, look it over and tell me how much it would cost. I know the risks and the hard work that will go along with it, but it will be something of my own."

"I want you to think this over because I have thought a lot about it myself and as I said before, I want a business of my own where I can be my own boss and property owner. Please let me know what you think."

"Well, what do you think?" I asked his father.

"I'm thinking some of the two years he has to finish at college," he said, "and I'm wondering if he hasn't grown too much to go back. I guess there are lots of boys like Bob," he went on, "who're thinking along these lines. Why they wouldn't be American, hardly, if they didn't. All I know is I want Bob to get a crack at that business of his if that's what he wants. I want him to get his share of America's opportunity. And most of all, I want him to get back to a country that's encouraging his kind of initiative."

Spur Risk Capital Industrialists Ask

Risk capital must be encouraged if the nation is to avoid postwar inflation, according to the consensus of 17 leading industrialists revealed in a recent poll of the life insurance companies in America.

Some business men questioned advised price controls for a "reasonable period," or until supply approximated demand, but expressions such as "lower taxes to encourage new capital investment," "encouragement of investment," "tax policy that will encourage business to expand" and "removal of the present discriminations against risk capital" appeared in nearly every answer.

Plan Private Flyers' Service

In line with preparations of aircraft supply manufacturers for servicing a vastly increased number of private planes after the war, a complete program for merchandising aircraft products has been announced by the Firestone Tire and Rubber company.

It was pointed out that this record was set without the aid of many new war-developed safety appliances and instruments which will be available when war ends.

Why not work those extra days and put your money into something that you will gain by and can't lose. War Bonds are the best investment you can make today or any day.

Rankin P.-T. A. Board Entertains Teachers

Members of the executive board and their committees of the Rankin parent-teacher association entertained members of the faculty with an informal party in the school gymnasium Friday evening. The receiving line was composed of Mrs. George Wywick, hospitality chairman, Mrs. L. C. Amos, president, Mrs. Boyd Frazier, vice president, Mrs. Jim Walters, secretary and Mrs. B. H. Scott, treasurer.

Army maneuvers in Mississippi were going forward with great dispatch. An ancient darky, black and wrinkled, sat on a dilapidated fence, drinking it all in. A company of soldiers filed by him, and he broke into a broad toothless grin.

"Doggone," he chuckled, "you all sus am goin to git dem Yankees dis time."

Humorous games and contests featured the entertainment for the evening, directed by Mrs. Wywick. The high light of the program was a bat parade, with awards being won by Mrs. B. H. Scott and H. H. Craven.

Pvt. Herman L. Amos has returned to Knoxville, Tenn., after spending a 10-day furlough with his wife and parents. Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Amos are on the McKnight Mill road.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Thornton and son, Don, have returned to their home in Wilmington after spending a week with Mrs. J. H. Kellam and having their son's tonsils removed at a local hospital while here. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Kellam, who will spend several days with them and other relatives.

They said the speaker didn't recognize you.

Lady: "Hobo, did you notice that pile of wood in the yard?"
Hobo: "Yes'm, I seen it."

Lady: "You mean you saw it?"
Hobo: "No'm. You saw me see it, but you ain't seen me saw it."

A backwoods farmer from the mountains of the state returned from a rare trip to town flashing a large ring on his finger. Upon displaying it to the populace there around, someone asked him if it were a real diamond.

"Well if it ain't, I've done been skinned out of four bits!" he replied.

I thought you told me this ham was good."

"Why I did. It was cured last week."

"Well, it's having a relapse now."

Let's all stay on the job and put our extra money in one of the best savings now available—War Bonds.

Plan Production Of Postwar Cars
